Ali Ghiassi is an account manager with Aerotek Scientific® LLC, a subsidiary of Aerotek Inc. Ali focuses on developing new business and servicing his current scientific clients in the Raleigh area.

Ali started with Aerotek in 2008 as a commercial recruiter and after regional success, quickly moved into a scientific sales role. In his current role, Ali leads a specialized team of scientific recruiters and is responsible for the growth and education of his recruiting team.

Ali graduated from University of North Carolina at Greensboro where he received a bachelor’s degree in international business, economics and Spanish. He is a board member for Uniting NC, and an active member of other local non-profit organizations.